

Lawford Plays Lead Role in New Lisner Play by Marquand

• DEREK LAWFORD of the British Embassy staff will play the title role in the University Dramatic Activities production of "The Late George Apley," which opens at Lisner Auditorium on Thursday, April 23, for three performances.

John P. Marquand is the author of the Pulitzer Prize winning novel, and co-author, with George S. Kaufman, of the dramatization of the novel.

Marquand is noted as a satirist of human foibles and intolerances, particularly in Boston where he has lived most of his life. He has dealt with this subject in other books, as well as "The Late George Apley," notably "H.M. Pulham, Esq.," "Wickford Point," "So Little Time" and "B.F.'s Daughter."

"Both Marquand and Kaufman are masters of their particular crafts," says William Callahan, managing director of University Dramatic Activities and director of the play. "The Late George Apley" is a delicate-edged, finely drawn condemnation of stuffiness and conventionality.

Covers 40 Years of Life

The novel from which the play was taken covers over forty years of George Apley's life. Written in the form of a memoir, it presents Apley through a series of letters written by him to his children, by his parents to him, and by his friends to him and about him. For the purpose of the play, the action has been condensed into a single week, the week of Thanksgiving, 1912, and only the salient parts of the novel are incorporated therein.

Daily Cast as Wife

Supporting Derek in the roles of the rest of the Apley family and relatives and friends of the family, are other talented actors from the University and the community. Nita Daily is cast as Catherine Apley, George's patient wife. Michael Foley and Ann Williams will be seen as John and Eleanor Apley, the two Apley children.

Ellen Ingersoll Hull and Robert Bloch will be seen as Amelia and Roger Newcombe, aunt and uncle of the Apleys. Beth Walton, Jack Jeglum, and Lorry Moritz are playing Agnes, Horatio and Jane Willing, cousins from next door. Mary Schrup and Peggy McVeary will be seen as friends of Mrs. Apley's and David Martz, Eugenie Stechow and James Dour will play the butler, maid and waiter.

Tickets to "The Late George Apley" are now on sale at the Lisner Box Office from 12 noon to 6 p.m.; in the Student Union from 12 noon to 2 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m.; and at the Willard Hotel. Student organizations who purchase tickets in a block will receive a return of 10% to their club treasury. For further information, call National 8-5200, ext. 472.

All-U Capers Scheduled for This Saturday

• CAMPUS CELEBRITY Capers, the last major All-University social function of the year sponsored by the University Newman Club, will be held April 18 at the Hotel 2400 at 9:00 p.m.

The purpose of the Campus Celebrity Capers is to honor twelve seniors of the graduating class who have been chosen with regard to service to the University and on the basis of popularity. Two faculty members, guests of honor, will present the honor scrolls to the outstanding students.

Tiny Meeker and his orchestra will provide the dance music for the semi-formal affair. For women the attire will be formal; for men, the attire is either tuxedo or blue suit. No flowers are required, the sponsoring club's president, Dick Malone, stated.

Tickets may be obtained from any Newman Club members and are sold at the booth in the Student Union cafeteria and at the Student Activities office. Price of the tickets is $4.00 per couple. This includes the price of the dance, tax, tips, etc. The establishing of this charge was planned with the purpose that after arrival, there would be no extra tickets or fees.

A souvenir program specially designed and planned will be given to each person attending, announced Florence Fucyk, program chairman.

Ticket and group-table reservations (minimum of four couples) may be made by contacting the Student Activities office. Further information may be obtained from Malone at HO. 2-8538.

Mortar Board Sponsors Student Tutor Service as Annual Project

• FOR THE FIRST time, a student tutoring service is being established on the University campus. Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, has undertaken this service as its annual project.

Students needing tutorial service in botany, biology, history, political science, economics, sociology and psychology may call NA. 8-5200, ext. 364 or come to the placement office to receive the names of recommended student tutors in these fields. The service will be operated by Mortar Board from 12 to 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday each week.

Student tutors have been recommended by faculty members in each department because of outstanding work demonstrated in class. They will be paid $1 an hour by the student desiring tutoring. After the student has received the name of the student tutor from Mortar Board, acting

Four Schools, Faculty Stage Follies Wednesday in Annual Production; Dancers Perform

• AS CURTAIN TIME draws near, the final touches are being added to the skits that are to be presented in the All-U Follies tomorrow night, under the direction of Cinda Murdock and George Buckmaster. The show starts at 8:15, and the admission price is 50 cents. Tickets will be sold from 12 noon to 2 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Student Union.

First on the program is the Columbian College skit, "Peter Pan," directed by Nan McKinney and Lyn Henderson. Following this is the faculty quartette composed of Mr. Merryfield of the Law School, Mr. Davison of the history department, Dr. Folkemer of the religion department, and Dr. Keating of the romance languages department who will sing favorite ballads.

Government School Follows

"Progressive Picnic," to be given by the School of Government under the direction of Judy and Joan Drew, is next on the program. The School of Education skit is entitled "In Paradise Isle" and is directed by Isabelle Sweeney. Professor Leggett will give a performance.

The Junior College will present "Much Ado About Nothing," directed by Naomi Coopchick and Ann Holford. The Modern Dance Group is to give a performance following the last skit.

The judges for the Follies are Bill Gold of the Washington Post, Bill Wilson of Station WMAL, and Mrs. George Prussing, instructor of Creative Dramatics at the University.

Present "Peter Pan"

The Columbian College's skit "Peter Pan" has the following cast: Russ Sargent, Peter; Sandy Kitchen, Tinker Bell; Nell Weaver, Wendy; Hal Mesirov, Beau; Nan McKinney, Gardenia Woman; Phil De Turk, Indian; George Buckmaster, Captain Hook; and Eileen McNally, Carlene Parker and Ellie Rapp.

The Follies, an all-student event, are staged, written, and directed by the University students. They originally started as a faculty production, and in 1950 it was changed to a freshman event. Later it was again changed to include each of the four classes in the University.

Tickets have been donated to wounded soldiers in nearby hospitals.

Rehearsals on Tuesday evening are from 7:00 to 11 p.m.

Purchase New Annual While Supply Lasts

• "THE 1953 CHERRY TREE is rapidly approaching the sell-out stage," said Tom Beale, editor-in-chief. "It looks as if the yearbook will be completely subscribed to for the first time since 1936."

According to the latest circulation report, less than seventy of the original 600 books remain to be sold. CHERRY TREE circulation surveys taken earlier in the year lead the staff to believe that there are two students that want a book for every copy now available.

The price is now $6.00 which can be made in two $3.00 installments.

AFROTC Crowns Leetch Sponsor at Annual Dance

by Ed Jaffee

• GINNY LEETCH was crowned queen of the AFROTC Ball Friday night. She was elected Group Sponsor by the members of the organization. John Buckingham, Cadet Lt. Colonel, officiated at the crowning.

Before the crowning, the nine girls who were elected Group, Squadron and Flight Sponsors received corsages. They were: Ginny Leetch, Group Sponsor; Lyn Henderson, Arnold Air Soas go-between, all further arrangements will be made at the convenience of student and tutor.

Chemistry has not been included on the subject list as there is blanket tutoring offered by the chemistry department. The majority of students provided for will be freshmen and sophomores, as there are a greater number of tutors available for the introductory courses, where students generally experience the most difficulty.

Although the student placement office has always had a tutoring service, with the emphasis on language tutors, many subjects have not been included. The tutors are usually graduate students and the fee is generally about $2 more than is being charged by the new student service.

"The student tutorial service is much needed by this campus and is receiving the full support of the faculty," stated Leonard W. Vaughn, assistant to the president and personnel officer of the University. It was through his effort that Mortar Board was able to secure a central office and also receive pointers on the running of the service.

Mrs. Barbara Bourne, student placement officer, is also enthused about the program and has discussed the difficulties of such a program with the Mortar Board representative.

This year's chapter of Mortar Board, when contemplating its annual project, received the idea of the student tutorial service from transfer students who found it most successful at other universities.

According to Ellen MacEwen, chairman of the project, "the service is much needed as there has never been a direct central source in the past and tutors were either graduate students or outsiders. Now students needing tutoring and those qualified as tutors can really get together."

SAE Honorary Holds Initiation, Banquet, Skit

• THE ANNUAL INITIATION ceremony of the Upsilon Chapter of Sigma Alpha Eta, national speech and hearing fraternity, will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 19 at the Woodhull House.

Maxine Saurel, Barbara Wolf, Marion Wilson and Elizabeth Mitchell will be welcomed into the fraternity by Linda Loehler, president and chairman of the affair.

Following the initiation, members of Sigma Alpha Eta and their guests will attend the Annual Spring Banquet at the Good Earth Restaurant. Among the guests invited to the dinner are Professor and Mrs. J. P. Leggette, Dr. and Mrs. Aram Glorig, Capt. and Mrs. Casimir Bielski, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sumey, Professor Edwin Stevens, Mr. Henry Krebs, Mr. and Mrs. John Craven and Dr. Calvin Pettit.

The program for the banquet, under the direction of Russell Sergeant, will feature an original play which was written by Marion Wilson, Cinda Murdock and Russell Sergeant. Actors and actresses will be Maxine Saurel, Barbara Wolfe, Marion Wilson, Gary Eckhart, Joe Able and Russell Sergeant.

Engineers, Psychologists Study Thinking Processes

by Phyllis V. Hards

• DID YOU KNOW that both psychologists and engineers had a hand in designing our coke and cigarette machines?

First, the psychologists studied the way a person's brain works when he adds and subtracts. Then, the engineers designed a computer on the same principle for a simple machine which could distribute cokes or cigarettes.

The psychologists have also studied the way a person's brain works when he does more complicated mathematics. This knowledge has led to the designing of calculators like those used by the Armed Forces and automatic pilots for guided missiles. The scientists call this application of human brain functions to machines cybernetics.

Dr. Frederick C. Frick of Bolling Air Force Base's Human Factors Laboratory will discuss cybernetics at the next Sigma Xi Society meeting in Woodhull House-C tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

ALL MEDICAL STUDENTS interested in earning extra cash are invited to enter the Schering Corporation contest.

The contest offers three $500 prizes and several $100 prizes to the medical students who write the best papers on "New Concepts in the Treatment of Peptic Ulcer," "Hormone Therapy of the Degenerative Diseases" or "Antihistaminic Treatment of Upper Respiratory Allergies and Infections."

Papers Limited to 5000 Words

Last year, Roger Morrell, a medical student at the University, won second prize in this contest.

Papers are limited to 5000 words. Entry forms must be mailed by July and the paper itself should be postmarked by October 1, 1953.

For additional information, consult the office of the dean of the Medical School or write to the Schering Corporation, 2 Broad St., Bloomfield, N. J.

Overweights Likely to Have Diseases

OVERWEIGHT PEOPLE are more likely to have gallstones, diabetes, high blood pressure, early hardening of the arteries and a shorter life than their thinner brothers, according to Dr. John Eager Howard, associate professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins.

In the final lecture of a series sponsored by the Smith-Reed-Russell Honor Society, Dr. Howard discussed health-hindering overweight, which doctors call obesity.

Overweight Inherited

Overweight runs in families, he said, due to heredity and to eating habits handed down from parent to child. A very little extra food intake or a little less physical exercise, if continued over a long period, can cause overweight.

Diet is the only method of getting rid of excess weight. Since fat is stored energy, the overweight person must take in less energy than he expends so that some of his energy is provided by his fat stores.

Exercise is not a practical method of reducing, he said, because it expends too few calories and increases the appetite.

Psychiatrist Honored

DR. WINFRED OVERHOLSER, the University's professor of psychiatry, has been named an honorary member of the University of Chile's faculty of medicine, according to Dr. Alejandro Garretón, dean of the Chilean medical school.

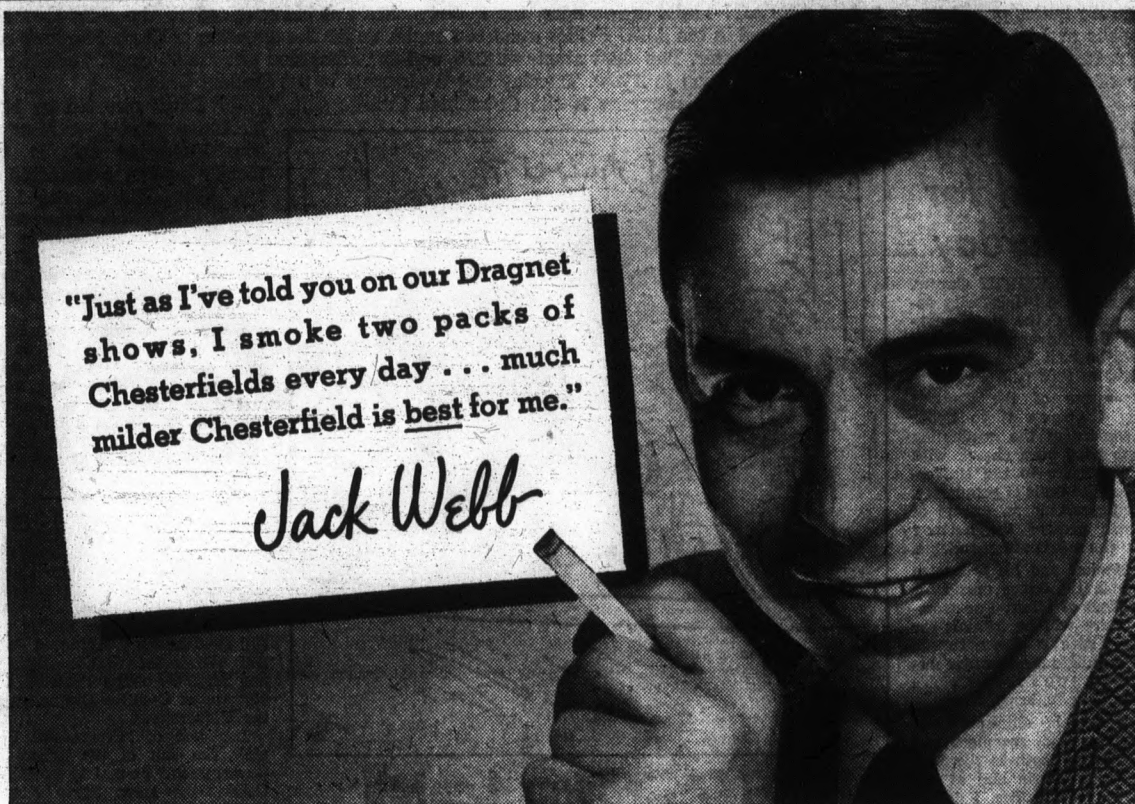

Male Chorus Sings Friday

• THE UNIVERSITY MEN'S Glee Club will join seven other male choruses in a Spring Sing at McDonough Gym at Georgetown University on Friday, April 24, at 8:30 p.m.

The sing will include favorite selections of the individual clubs and a number of songs by the massed chorus of 350 voices. The sing will be followed by a dance scheduled from 10:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

In addition to the University Chorus, under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, other groups will be: the University of Maryland, Georgetown University, National Press Club, Chevy Chase Chanters, Telephone Company Glee Club, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Glee Club, and the Augmented Eight. Tickets can be secured in the Student Activities Office for $1.

The Mixed Chorus of the University will give five performances in the next three weeks. The popular variety show will be presented at the Prince Georges Country Club, Mt. Rainer Christian Church, Shoreham Hotel, Forest Glen Red Cross Show, and Tocton Prison.

Dancers To Give Show For Theatre

• THE DANCE PRODUCTION GROUPS will present a special children's concert entitled "A Merry-Go-Round of Dance" this Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. in the Roosevelt High School Auditorium.

They were invited a year ago by the D. C. Recreation Department, which sponsors the Children's Theatre of Washington, to prepare a group of dances designed for children.

The program includes "The Clock that went Backwards," a dance about two children who are transported back through history when the pendulum of their grandfather clock reverses itself. The children will be played by John and Dale Kline, children of Professor Donald C. Kline of the Art Department, who has designed special decor for several dances.

A dance called "The Fable of the Donkey," based on an Aesop fable, regards what happens when a father and his son try to sell their donkey.

"The Little Boy and the Flying Saucer" concerns a boy who is swept to another planet by a shining disc. There he meets the Low People, the High People, the Slow People and the Fast People, all of whom fascinate him. Nevertheless he is glad to get back to the earth.

Other dances from the repertory of the Groups will be Carnival and Carousel, Festival, Chicken Reel, Waiting for a Bus and Military Ball.

Reserved seats are priced at 90 cents, unreserved at 40 cents. Tickets are on sale at the Snow Concert Bureau, 1108 G St., N.W.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"LISTEN, BIRD-BRAIN, don't get soar, but I cooed never love you," said Sheedy's little chickadee. "Your hair's strictly for the birds! Better remember the tree cardinal rules for social success so you won't be an also-wren. 1. Hop to a toilet goods counter. 2. Peck up a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's Favorite Hair Tonic. Contains Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. Grooms the hair. Relieves dryness. Removes goose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. 3. Use it daily and people will love you." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil for himself and a diamond wing for his tweetie-pie. Better buy a bottle or tube today. Or ask for it at your barber's. If you don't you're cookoo!

Pharmacy Students Visit Upjohn, Parke-Davis

• BY INVITATION 30 students from the School of Pharmacy visited two pharmaceutical firms March 31 through April 4. Firms visited were Parke, Davis & Company in Detroit and the Upjohn Company in Kalamazoo.

Junior and senior students making the trip were accompanied by Dr. Robert M. Leonard, professor of Pharmacology. The School of Pharmacy visits national firms annually to observe production and research in operation.

Remaining in Detroit March 31 and April 1, the pharmacy students observed the production of Parke-Davis medicinal products and learned of the company's work with antibiotics. They inspected the company's 52 year old research building.

In the Right Direction

• THE IFC TOOK A step in the right direction this week when it voted to make it compulsory that all IFC delegates be either president or vice-president of their individual fraternities.

The Council, apparently agreeing with a recent HATCHET editorial, felt that the best method to strengthen its organization would be to strengthen its individual members.

It is certainly the HATCHET'S hope that the individual houses will support the Council in this attempt to revitalize itself.

In The Mailbag

Fratman Takes It on the Chin!

(Ed. Note: Letters will not be printed in the Hatchet unless accompanied by the author's name.)

• IN THE HATCHET issue of March 31, 1953, appeared an editorial in connection with the IFC activities, highlighted by the "Greek Week fiasco" last week. As a fraternity man myself, this is one time I must take it right on the chin.

After congratulating the editor for the very appropriate remarks, I only hope that the actual and future IFC's will profit from the past and present mistakes.

I am not for the abolishing of the IFC altogether but for its reformation. It is about time to organize a powerful IFC capable of performing its proper function on the campus.

Very truly yours
Miguel J. Rios

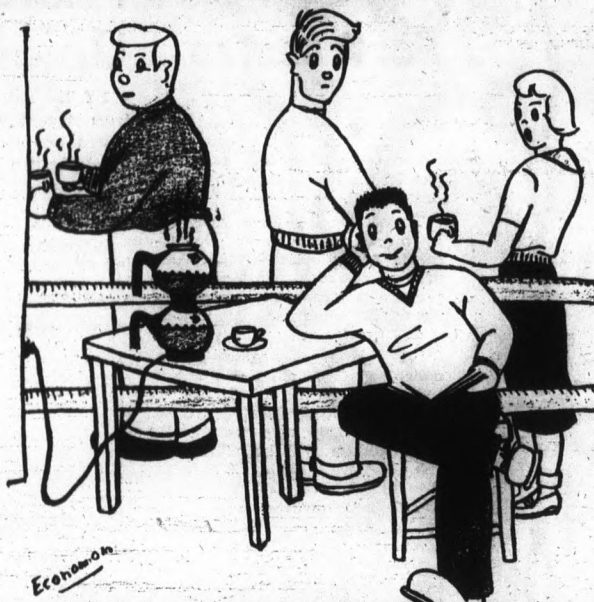

Attendance No Defect of IFC

Dear Editor:

The editorial concerning the IFC which appeared in the HATCHET on March 31 was, on the whole, a constructive piece of criticism. A major inaccuracy, however, was the statement that: "Attendance is the second great plague upon the Council. Nothing better illustrates IFC's weakness than the lack of attendance at its meetings." While it is true that one or two delegates have been lax in their attendance, most of the member fraternities have very good attendance records. In fact, if compared with other campus organizations, the record of the IFC would probably be outstanding.

Sincerely,
John H. Hinrichs, Jr.
President, IFC

At the Union

Mine's made with real coffee

by F. G. Harmon and Nancy McCoach

Dear Squealers:

All my friends are running in the election, why shouldn't I run too? I announced my candidacy at my fraternity meeting. For two hours the next day the Student Union was abuzz with my name—why not name deleted by request for SC proxy and even why not name deleted by request for member-at-large. But suddenly my drive was strangled. I got hoarse. So I said to myself, the odds are against you, name deleted by request, what can you do to win? Please advise me.

N.D.B.R.

Dear Name Deleted By Request:

It is obvious that you have the potential of a first rate University politico. Below are the rules which have swept many a bright-eyed and bushy-tailed young politician into the inner sanctum of campus politics—the Student Council.

1. Be seen in the Student Union. This may involve cutting classes and sitting with your fraternity brothers for long periods of time, but remember honors gained without sacrifice are worth little.

2. Be sure to distribute your own campaign posters. To fail to do this would show a lack of confidence in yourself.

3. Station your fraternity brothers at the polls. Tell your men to be vocal rather than too physical, remember voters with broken hands will find it hard to sign x by your name.

4. At May Day if elected (and how can you lose?) restrain yourself to a few modest jumps and turns; handsprings down the aisle are definitely frowned upon.

Your conscious observance of these rules will insure that 4 out of 5 voters will mark their x beside your name.

NEW HATS IN THE RING: Warren Lytle this week with a quick gymnastic twist of the wrist tossed his cap into the ring for SC veep and hopped aboard the Mesirow bandwagon. Nan McKinney DG who backed an SC drive to abolish the office of member-at-large is now seriously considering running for that somewhat nebulous position.

ONE WAY TICKET: The IFC in a surprise move this week sent back to its member houses a plan to draw up an IFC slate for the coming election. Under this plan each fraternity would run only one member for election to the Student Council. Opinion among the boys in the know rates this plan as a 100-1 long shot.

STUDENT UNION TEALEAVES: With SC petitioning set for next Monday, certain runners, some of whom have been mentioned in this column, have decided which slot they will seek—Carlene Parker, Publicity Director; Marilyn Tate DG, Secretary; Joan Gallagher KD, Comptroller; Jack Thorne, Advocate; Nell Weaver, Secretary or Frosh Director and Lyn Henderson, Activities Director.

Movie Review

Painter's Portrait Poses Paradoxes

by Lowell Swartzell

• JOHN HUSTON'S latest film is a melange of color, talent, pathos, bathos, Parisian locales and Hollywoodian ideals. It is a movie that is at once beautiful and ugly, original and trite, brilliant and foolish. It is "Moulin Rouge."

The movie was adapted from a novel about the currently most-publicized artist, Henri Toulouse-Lautrec; the movie tends to bring the novel, rather than an authentic biography, to the screen. The result is a sentimental and romantic portrait of the artist, portraying him as very sensitive of his mid-gest appearance. In reality Lautrec was an exhibitionist, known to capitalize on his stature for attention, who projected himself into society rather than draw away from it as he does in the film.

Incompatible Prostitute

His fascination for the Parisian prostitute Marie Charlet has been dramatized in obvious echoes of Maugham's "Of Human Bondage." Here is presented the too well-known story of incompatibility and adoration, love and disrespect, good and evil.

Huston's work as writer and director is good and bad. As director he sternly commands the actors and cameras to obtain the greatest sensitivity in their work, which is often affecting. But he has paced the film ploddingly instead of encompassing several purposes.

Zsa-Zsa-Zsa

"Moulin Rouge" seems to have been filmed in water color. The new process captures Lautrec's color-wheel magnificently, filling the screen with new and unusual pastel hues. The three ladies look charming. First, the exciting ballerina, Colette Marchand, gives a performance in her first acting assignment that is sizzling.

Lovely Suzanne Flon is particularly lady-like, but then there's Zsa-Zsa Gabor, who, looking as if she just got out of bed, is the picture of health. She can't act, and a singing voice has been dubbed in for her, but nevertheless she's a real double-threat girl if there ever was one.

"Moulin Rouge," with its many shortcomings and virtues, is, paradoxically as it seems, a Gallic Galaxy of color and appeal.

DOWN TIN PAN ALLEY

by Ed Jaffee

• "THERE'S NOT much meat, but what there is is choice." These words, quoted from Spencer Tracy, best describe this month's record scene.

For the first time since last Fall, instrumentals are dominating the popular music field. Easily the best-liked number on campus is a retreat, April in Portugal. Selling best under the Les Baxter arrangement, this song was making the rounds last year, when it was known as The Whispering Serenade.

Ralph Flanagan's Hot Toddy (not the drink), is still riding high all over the country, which points up the bandleader-pianist's talent as a composer. Other instrumentals still enjoying the public favor are The Swedish Rhadsody, recorded only by Percy Faith; Rondevous, by the Camerata orchestra, and Les Brown's newest, Hangin' Around. This latter number also features a vocal chorus by the Modernaires.

Two Slow Sensations

Slow vocals are scarce this month, unless you want to consider Doggie in the Window a slow vocal, or even consider it a song. However, the Song From Moulin Rouge, a really beautiful theme, is still gracing the public with its presence. After listening to this number quite a few times, I still feel that the singing of Felicia Sanders does not add anything, in fact detracts from Percy Faith's excellent orchestration. But vocal or not, the record is fast becoming the number one hit in the area.

A new singer, Bob Manning, is slowly but surely creating a sensation with the slow and smooth The Nearness of You. Whereas most new voices sound like someone else, usually already popular, Bob Manning sounds only like Bob Manning. The song to watch is I Believe. The Frankie Lane version is rapidly approaching the one million mark in sales, and Jane Froman likes it so much she has adopted it as her theme song.

Watch Ecstasy Tango

It's got to catch fire sometime. I think it will, real soon. The public is so sane there is no Crazy Mixed-up Record this month. See you around.

The song to watch is once again, Ecstasy Tango.

FOGGY BOTTOM

• SIGMA KAPPA HAD its Louisiana Hayride; so Sigma Nu decided to hold a Great Falls hayride. After serious preparation and planning, the divergent groups finally got together and rolled into the wooded glades of Maryland.

Among the couples present were Corinne Striker, Chi O, with Bob Foldenauer; Carol Picton, KKG, with Commander Glen Archer; and Nan McKinney, DG, with Don Berry. Seen nestled in the abundant hay were Marilyn Mitchell, Chi O, with Bob Brown; Joan Drew and Bob Popper; Kaki Greene with Harry Seabring.

Only sad part of the journey was when the travelers were ready to return to the 21st street terminal. Jim Barrett and his date, Louise Clarke, just weren't to be found. After various exhibits of hog calling, etc., the straying couple finally returned to the flock and the Sigma Nus ambled homewards.

Hayriding wasn't the only SN event of the past week, though, as the house was used for the annual pre-Ocean City gathering. A two-minute meeting was called and once again the famed Md. resort city was preferred by students 20-1. (Who wanted the Riviera?)

Sigma Kappa-Kappa Sigma; the two joined hands once again last month when Jackie Tucker and Dick Gray collaborated in a sensational pinning. Another pinning is the one between Jack Thorne, SAE, and Ellie Ready, also of Sigma Kappa. Congrats, kids, from a bitter bachelor.

Richard Gaskell of Sigma Chi advanced a step further when he became engaged to Pat Reed (not to be confused with the Chi O of the same name) on Easter Sunday "A complete surprise," softly whispered the happy Pat.

Lyn "Smokey" Staver seems to be starting an ADPI fad. She was recently seen in the company of a black cigar and now Jeannie Thigpen has picked up the habit.

Intercollegiate Punctuality Unwelcome

• A COED AT DRAKE University, Iowa, rushed into Spanish class a few minutes late, threw off her coat and started to sit down. Students began to chuckle. The coed looked down horrified, then quickly threw her coat around her again and ran out.

She'd forgotten to wear a skirt. The academic study of the culture of vines has become possible in West Germany for the first time. Training facilities on this subject have been set up, and after an eight-semester course, the degree of academic vine cultivator may be taken.

Asked by a student pollster whether she preferred male students in ROTC uniforms or in civilian dress, an Akron University coed replied, "If they wear uniforms, then they don't have to buy so many clothes. That leaves them with more money to spend on me."

Another girl told the pollster. "I like civilian clothes better because the only way you can tell Air Force men from the bus drivers is the way they tilt their hats."

A recent poll was taken at Northwestern University in which members of the Men's Interhouse Council and independent houses were asked, "Would you be willing to live with a Negro roommate upon a first-come first-serve basis, if he is the next person to be assigned to your room?" The students voted 287 to 180 in favor. This indicates a switch in student attitudes since 1947, when in answer to a similar poll, there were 157 yes, and 371 no.

"The only trouble with getting to class on time," comments the Cavalier Daily, University of Virginia, "is that there is seldom anyone there to appreciate it."

Ad in the Daily Texan: "Lost Saturday Night—Pair of light weight trousers, lettered Le-Bak."

Stay away from those nasty cigarettes, girls.

Moulin Rouge seemed to be the big party event of the week Saturday night. Acacia held its annual Beaux Arts Ball with this theme interpretative art to illustrate its house for the occasion, while Sig Ep also had this party motif.

At the Acacia affair, Anne Smith and Jack Thatch won the prize for the most unusual costume, which, according to George Buckmaster, returning from Gate and Key's sensational initiation, was "sexier than . . .!"

phere were prevalent through the resources of George and Ellie Cummings, dancing with knives in their teeth, bartender Humphrey Judson singing of Paris' wonders, and Linda Abbot finding John Buckley's eyes quite . . . Willard Jeffrey and Ted Nyhardt both completed their plans for a trip to Marseille in a fourteen-foot rowboat.

Speaking of Gate and Key, the boys really wrought a little havoc on the campus Sunday afternoon when they dispatched sundry "wheel" inebriates unto the thoroughfare. However, all was apparently in good spirits as no one had any ill after effects!!!

and LUCKIES
TASTE BETTER!
Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette... for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike...

Yee Wins Art Club Award in Exhibition

Mr. Yee won the $50 George Washington Curator of Art prize for the best work in the show of 42 pieces of art by Corcoran and University art students. The others won $10 prizes awarded by the University Art Club. Both Miss Preveden and Mr. Yee are Corcoran students.

Entries were submitted by students of the University and Corcoran Art School. This is the first year that Corcoran students have entered the contest.

The awards were presented at a luncheon held for the winners. The judges were: Katherine Hobbs for sculpture, Mary Hovanian and Mary Snow for painting.

Sailors Cop Fifth Place At Annapolis

OVER THE PAST week end, GW's Sailing Team journeyed to Annapolis to compete against the fourteen other colleges which were honored with invitations to the Naval Academy's Spring Invitational Regatta. Sailing against some of the top talent on the East Coast, the Colonials' skippers tacked their way into fifth place—only 12 points behind Dartmouth and Princeton who tied for third and fourth with 184 points.

The week end saw a wide variety of weather which up until Sunday afternoon didn't seem to bring out the best that GW's skippers could offer.

With two straight first place finishes, GW came up from seventh to fifth place but time ran out, and the Regatta ended with the Colonials in a safe fifth place. Those sailing for GW were John Dodge, Lorenz Schrenk, Carlene Parker, Ann Sweeney, Joan Feder, Fred Tomlinson and Nell Weaver.

Final point totals were: Navy, 200; Cornell, 189; Princeton and Dartmouth, 184; GW, 172; Tufts, 160; Kings Point and Michigan, 137; Rutgers, 130; St. Joseph's, 119; Cincinnati, 86, and Army, 52.

ASCE Sponsors Talk By Expert on Dams; Magazine Staff Meets

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL Engineers student chapter of this University held its monthly meeting last Wednesday. The guest speaker for the evening was Gail A. Hathaway, distinguished hydraulics engineer and expert on large dams.

The program consisted of technicolor slides showing large dams throughout Europe and India. Mr. Hathaway included pictures of human interest showing various situations that arise in foreign countries, and India in particular, where the construction of a large dam is in progress.

THE MECHELECIV magazine staff will meet on Sunday at 3 p.m. in room 303 of the Student Union Annex. This is the deadline for the May issue. Other topics to be discussed include the Board of Editors and staff for the next school year and the recipients of the Award Keys to be presented by the Engineers' Council at the Engineers' Banquet on May 2. Anyone interested in being on the staff next year is urged to attend.

GENERAL BENJAMIN W. Chidlaw, Commanding General of the Air Defense Command, addressed 103 graduates of the University's Air Force Manpower Management Training Program last Friday at 11 a.m. in Lisner Auditorium.

ARMISTEAD PETER 3d, WHOSE FIRST ONE-MAN exhibition was held at the University Library in January, has presented one of his watercolors to the University. The water color is a hunting scene entitled, "Rabbit Country," which will be hung in the library as part of its permanent collection. The scene was painted near the artist's estate in Cambridge.

AN IMPORTANT meeting of the Lester F. Ward Sociological Society will be held on Thursday, at 8 p.m. in room 203 of Building C.

NEW OFFICERS for the Woman's Coordinating Board are: Shirley Floyd, president; Margaret Obear, vice president; Joan Gallagher, secretary, and Pat Towner, publicity director.

NEWMAN CLUB will hold a lecture tonight in room C-4. Rev. F. J. Connell of Catholic University will speak on "Censorship and the Church." All interested persons are urged to attend. This Saturday is the Campus Capers. Don't miss it.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA, National Service Fraternity, will hold a meeting this Thursday at 9:00 p.m. in Student Union Annex, second floor. Current projects and assistance to Student Council elections will be discussed.

member-at-large, publicity director, secretary, Student Union Chairman, freshman director and school representatives from the School of Government, the Junior College, the Columbian College and the School of Education. The petitions must be turned into the Student Activities Office during the week of April 20-24 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Office hours of the advocate will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11 a.m. to 12 noon, Tuesday and Thursday, 10 to 11 a.m. Dates when election ads will be accepted will be announced next week.

There will be a referendum of amendments to the Student Council Constitution attached to the ballot.

tals were kept current as the meet progressed, and events were started on schedule.

Intramural director Vincent DeAngelis expressed his thanks to all those who helped make the meet a success. Although Saturday was a busy day at the Western track, he hopes to increase participation, especially of independents, next year.

Booster Panel Petitions Due Next Thursday

APPLICATIONS ARE NOW open for Boosters and will remain open until Tuesday, April 21. All those interested in collegiate sports events or in boosting school spirit are invited to petition.

Petitions will be received for the following offices: president, secretary and treasurer. The chairmanships open are: membership, Boosters section, special projects, half-time entertainment, transportation, publicity and pep rally chairman.

The membership chairman is responsible for getting ticket books printed, and working with the publicity chairman to get the largest membership possible. The boosters section chairman takes care of the seating facilities and provides ushers for Boosters members at all games.

The duties of the project chairman are concerned mostly with trophies, house decoration competitions, balloons, shakers and any miscellaneous items. The half-time entertainment chairman, as is suggested by the name, takes care of getting bands and drill teams for the games.

The transportation chairman charts busses and tries to organize cavalcades to the games.

Rudin's Ramblings

by Jim Rudin

• ROBBY WHITE AND PAUL COLOHAN, the two Buff weightlifters, added themselves a few more medals last week. The event was the District AAU Contest. Robby placed first in the middle weight division with 710 pounds, while Paul grabbed the runner-up spot with 635.

Robby, who did so well in New York some weeks ago, moved up to the middle weight department with his usual good results. Paul who is making a fine comeback after an ill-fated Manhattan expedition, showed excellent form.

The Colonial track team which had its first meet today is in desperate straits. It seems that many more men are needed for all events. Last Saturday's intramural meet showed that there are plenty of hidden cinder gems. We only hope that some of the stars of last Saturday will really become just that by joining the Buff track team.

Phi Alpha is to be congratulated for winning the Intramural track meet. That makes the first double winner among the fraternities—basketball and now track. Sigma Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon also draw our plaudits for finishing second and third, respectively.

The Buff baseball team is off to an excellent start. As we go to press, the Reinhart-coached nirie has won six out of its first seven tilts. Paced by Jerry Marvel and Bob Fredericks on the mound and with cleanup hitter Don DeMonge and catcher Steve Korchek supplying power, it looks as if the Colonials will be a power in the Southern Conference.

Wake Forest is trying for a sweep. Already champions in basketball, the Deacons are off and running in the diamond sport. They have compiled an 8-0 overall record and a 2-0 slate in league play. Duke, the defending champs, are now Groatless, Dick, the Great Groat, is now stationed at Fort Belvoir and recently paced this Army establishment to the All-Army game championship.

Prof Vinnie DeAngelis' "revamped" intramural program has started with a bang. Over three hundred boys participated in the recent free throw contest. The ping pong and badminton contests have been swamped with contestants.

Phi Alpha Edges SX for Track Title

• PHI ALPHA'S WELL-ROUNDED track team edged Sigma Chi, 45 points to 39, to take first place in the Intramural track meet Saturday at Western High School.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed third with 33 points, followed by Welling Hall, which garnered 28 points with strong entries in the field events.

Other teams and their scores are: Delta Tau Delta, 16; Tau Kappa Epsilon, 5; Pi Kappa Alpha, 2; Phi Sigma Kappa, 1; and Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Richie Gaskell of Sigma Chi was high point man, winning the 50-yard and the 220-yard dashes for 10 points, and also running in the Sigma Chi fourth place 880 relay team.

The relay races made the difference for the Alphas, as they took the mile relay and the 880 sprint relay.

The events, winners and times are:

Netmen Face Rough Week Of Campaign

• THE COLONIAL net squad is getting set for its roughest week after beating Maine 9-0 and losing to Bucknell, 6-3, on successive Fridays.

This afternoon the team meets West Virginia. Tomorrow, the racketmen face Georgetown, and then they journey down into Virginia to meet Virginia Tech and Virginia Military Academy.

On April 3, the team blanked Maine, 9-0. Ed Beale, Ed Ballenger, Mickey Boteler, Al Reynard, Bert Epstein and Andy Cole won all the singles matches, while Beale-Ballenger, Boteler-Epstein and Reynard-Al Shropshire took all the doubles matches.

Last Friday, the Buffmen lost a tough 6-3 match to Bucknell. Ballenger and Epstein won singles, while Beale, Boteler, Reynard and Shropshire lost their tilts.

The doubles teams, Beale-Ballenger, Boteler-Epstein and Reynard-Shropshire dropped all three doubles matches.

Three of the matches went to three sets, numbers 1 and 2 doubles and number 6 singles—but the Colonials lost the edges.

The overall record of the squad stands now at three wins and two losses. They have downed NC State, East Carolina College and Maine, and have lost to Hampton-Sydney and Bucknell.

Intramural Calendar

• THE FIRST intramural fencing tournament will be held Friday, April 17, from 3 p.m. on, in the gymnasium. Sponsored and conducted by University biology professor, Sam Munson, the tournament is open to any student. Equipment will be furnished by the intramural department.

Volley Ball

Intramural Volleyball will begin April 14 and last through April 16. Starting time is 7 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Softball

The first round of intramural softball was partially rained out Sunday, but games will be played next Sunday.

Foul-shooting, badminton and table tennis are closing out, and in all three, record numbers of entries were received.

Welling Hall, 10'; (3) Posta, Welling Hall; (4) Diamond, Phi Alpha.

Discus

(1) Flyzik, Welling Hall, 107'; (2) Ziamandanis, Welling Hall; (3) Kimmel, SAE; (4) Posta, Welling Hall.

Shotput

(1) Ziamandanis, Welling Hall, 39'; (2) Adams, TEP; (3) Joe Holup, Sigma Chi; (4) Flyzik, Welling Hall.

Javelin

(1) DeTurk, Sigma Chi, 159.5'; (2) Schlemmer, DTD; (3) Haney, PIKA; (4) Adams, TEP.

Phi Alpha succeeds PIKA as the track champion, while Sigma Chi replaces SAE as a runnerup. The meet was run off with a professional smoothness—events were called well in advance of times and entries were assigned numbers to expedite scoring. With the assistance of several representatives of the women's and men's physical education department and assistant track coach Alexander Hogarty, the point to

• GEORGE WASHINGTON'S baseball team, winner in six of its seven games, battles Virginia's undefeated Cavaliers at Charlottesville today.

The Colonials, who have jumped off to GW's best start in many a season, struggle with the only college nine that has beaten Michigan this season. And Michigan is the one team that has been able to better the G-Streeters. Virginia defeated Michigan, 4 to 3, and the Wolverines dropped G.W., 6 to 2.

Coach Bill Reinhart's charges hold undisputed first place in the Southern Conference's Northern Division with league victories over Washington & Lee and Virginia Tech.

Marvel Develops into Marvel

Jerry Marvel, sophomore southpaw of the Colonials, is the most pleasant surprise uncovered by the cagy Reinhart this spring. Marvel, who started the season as the Colonials' number one retriever of foul balls, paces G.W.'s pitching with an amazing 0.47 earned run average and two victories in two starts.

Marvel scored G.W.'s sweetest victory of the early season when he shutout Maine, 7 to 0 on April 3. A year ago Maine inaugurated G.W.'s season with a 29-10 lambasting over an unconditioned Colonial nine.

Jerry fanned ten and walked four while allowing Maine only five hits.

Allows First Run to V.P.I.

The slender six-footer from Evansville, Indiana, extended his shutout innings streak to 12 before V.P.I. slugger A. O. Smith smashed a homer off him in the third inning of the G.W.-V.P.I. contest Saturday.

Marvel scattered seven hits among the Gobblers, whose spotty fielding enabled the Colonials to triumph, 5 to 1. Virginia Tech pitcher, junior right-hander Jim Beard fanned 16 batters, but his shaky start combined with his teammates' miscues defeated him.

Saga of Bob Frederick

The Colonials' other marvel with the exception of an eighth inning against Michigan is sophomore right-hander Bob Frederick. Like Marvel, he has accumulated two victories, but has also extended himself to acquire G.W.'s lone defeat.

His four hitless innings against Vermont after relieving George Sengstack earned him his initial triumph. The fireballer, known to his intimates as "Frugie," struck out seven Catamounts accounting for 60% of the putouts.

The hurler from the electric city, Schenectady, with the electrifying fast ball flashed his wares for seven innings against co-Big Ten champion Michigan. He set down the Wolverines with two hits and fanned seven while issuing four bases on balls.

But then Frederick, who also owns the moniker of "Rockhead," pitched himself right out of the picture. After retiring the first batter to face him, he allowed five solid hits to five of the following six batters. By the time he had completed the disastrous eighth, he had seen four of his gift recipients score.

The likeable Frederick returned to the mound Friday against Washington & Lee in G.W.'s opening Southern Conference encounter, and decided to stick around for the whole contest. He proved an unwelcome guest to the host Generals by tossing a five-hitter and triumphing, 9 to 3.

Frederick received batting support from his battery-mate Steve Korchek, who lashed out a three-run homer in the fourth inning. His team was also well supported by the hosts who fumbled the ball eight times, while the Colonials played one of their rare errorless games.

Bank Pitches Creditable Ball

Freshman lefty Steve Bank received credit for G.W.'s first conquest of Trinity, when he pitched four satisfactory innings in relief.

Senior George Sengstack, relied on by Coach Reinhart to be his number one starter, has not yet rounded into shape, although he scored a win over Trinity in the second match with the Hartford, Connecticut school.

Stan Walawac suffered from his own wildness in his start against Trinity. Four walks combined with two wild pitches and six hits off Stan necessitated his removal from the contest eventually won by Bank.

Jim Hill Stars at Third

Jim Hill, freshman third baseman from Washington & Lee High School, has sparked the Colonials' hitting attack and starred as fielder for the Buff, establishing himself as one of Coach Bill Reinhart's best finds of the year.

Hill blasted two triples and two singles in four trips to the plate in the second Trinity game and carried a .421 batting average and .789 slugging average into the Colonials' series against Virginia schools this past weekend.

Korchek, Saffer Also Hit .400

Catcher Steve Korchek and outfielder-infielder John "Skinny" Saffer entered into the Virginia trip with .455 and .444 batting averages respectively.

Korchek socked his first extra base hit of the season when he slammed his three-run homer in the Washington & Lee game. He also moved into contention for the R.B.I. leadership with Bino Barrera and Don DeMonge.

Saffer, who has become Reinhart's all-around handy-man in the outfield and infield, had slapped out five singles in 11 appearances in five games.

Colonials Entertain V.M.I., Spiders
George Washington entertains V.M.I. and Richmond in games to be played Friday and Saturday at the West Ellipse.

The Colonials are favored to defeat the Keydets, but are regarded as tossups with defending Northern Division titlist Richmond. The undefeated Spiders recently eliminated Maryland from the ranks of the undefeated.
